Los Alamos – Los Alamos Federation of School Employees (LAFSE) Union Co-President, Christine Englebrecht and Co-President Trey Pereyra released the following statements:

"We would like to express our congratulations to the newly elected, LAFSE-endorsed, Board member Antonio Jaurigue, and returning Board members, Ellen Spector, Erin Green, and Melanie Colgan. We look forward to deepening our partnership as we continue to continue to support and advocate for all our students and staff," said Englebrecht.

"We want to thank our COPE committee members for their diligent work ensuring the best candidates were endorsed in this election. Los Alamos' system of public education is truly a community effort, and last night's election results show the deep level of partnership we have achieved working collaboratively with the Board of Education and as a presence in the communities we serve. This election, including the passage of the schools bond, is critical for maintaining these long-standing relationships, and we are excited to work with our new and returning members," said Pereyra.
